- When a patient places an appointment, the doctor will be notified of the appointment through the doctor app and she/he will have the ability to initiate a video call to the patient based on their mutual preference, engaging in consultations at the convenience of both parties.
- To assist the patient, the ability to share medical reports and earlier prescriptions with the doctor is also available.

- At the appointment time, the doctor will initiate a video call to the patient's last logged-in device and the session will continue until the consultation is over.
- Furthermore, the doctor can also share the prescription with the patient after the session and if any further clarifications are necessary, patients can raise them within 24 hours after the session via the chat facility.

Process Of Channeling a doctor

- Channeling is a mode for patients to book a pre-paid appointment with doctors. Patients can book the doctors by paying them to the Consultants who work via Channeling. Patients who don't want to stay in queues or waiting rooms can go for this option for decades. But in the beginning, it was not much comfortable because communication was not developed like now. When it comes to channeling doctors in Sri Lanka, it further describes some more challenging times throughout history. But now the situation is different. However, there is a concern about whether it is effective in Sri Lanka.
- When you need the best physician or medical professional in minutes, the Sri Lankan healthcare system offers you several methods to do this. Government hospitals don't offer an appointment method or scheduling system still, so patients should stay in queues whenever they need to see a doctor in government hospitals. Most Sri Lankans satisfy their healthcare requirements from there due to poverty, and sometimes they may think government hospitals are more liable. For another one, it can be just a myth.
- Somehow, people can schedule the same doctors in government hospitals at their private clinics or at island-wide private hospitals. Normally, the process is operated through a telephone system.

- This platform has 3 main sections for each user.

-  Doctor Channeling Part - Channel A Doctor
-  Tele – channeling Part – Video Consultation
-  Driving License Medical Part – Book an Appointment

<https://www.echannelling.com/platform> focusing on scheduling doctors online and having meetings between doctors and patients through the application can solve the problem to an unbelievable level. Also, the platform should be user-friendly and easy to manipulate.

- This platform doesn't have an emergency service without Ambulance service. It would be helpful for the website to have a navigation section for some emergency services, such as: - Accidents cases.

Stroke

Bleeding

Breathing difficulties

Eye trauma, etc.

In other words, these are some of the emergency situations that websites can't handle anywhere and at any time.

- Telephone issues or contact issues.

Enquires about patients are welcome and can be made by phoning the hospital and website. One person should make the call and then inform other family members and friends. It is important to limit the numbers of calls because the administration is busy and telephone calls take staff away from caring for patients. The use of email is not familiar to everyone, so this method cannot be used by all users.

Solution- There should be some videos on how to use the e-channeling platform. Those non-internet users can benefit from these videos because they are quite helpful to them. When the videos are available, users can easily navigate the website and contact them(company).

- E-channeling platform doesn't have an online health information resources for patients and their families and friends.
